

Lifting the ban on cross-ownership of newspapers and TV stations is one of the most un-patriotic, anti-capitolist, and anti-consumer things that is in your power to do. This will do nothing but disservice the public by limiting the diversity of information available to them. This does not promote competition nor does it create a dynamic market; it will only create monopolies. The only people this will serve are the greedy elite mega-business owners. Which I ought to remind you, are the MINORITY of the people in this country. Seeing that you are an agency of a DEMOCRATIC government, this could be viewed as a very un-patriotic move. Saying that you are doing your patrioc duty by doing this is damn near laughable except for the fact that you were being serious.
